MANHOOD

IN THE

YOUNG AND RISING GENERATION.

The vegetative powers of man are strong, but a few years how often the pallid hue the leek lustre eye and emaciated form and the impossibility of application to mental effort, show their baneful influence. It soon becomes evident to the observer that some depressing influence in checking the development of the body. Consumption is talked of, and perhaps the youth is removed from school and sent to the country. This is one of the worst movements. Removed from ordinary drivers and the ever changing scenes of the city, the powers of the body too much enfeebled to give zest to health full of rural exercise, thoughts are turned inwardly upon themselves.

If the patient be a female the approach of the malady is looked for with anxiety as the first symptom in which nature is to show her saving power in diffusing the circulation and vitalizing the clogged with the poison of health. Alas! Increase of appetite has grown by what it fed on. The energies of the system are prostrated, and the whole economy is deranged. The beautiful and wonderful period in which body and mind undergo so fascinating a change from child to woman, is looked for in vain. The parent's heart bleeds in anxiety, and fancies he gave but waiting for his victim.

HELMBOLD'S

EXTRACT BUCHU

attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, General Weakness, Horror of Disease, Weak nerves, Trembling, Dreadful Horror of Death, Night Sweats, Cold Feet, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Languor, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, Often Enormous Appetite with Dyspeptic Symptoms, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Pallid Countenance and Eruptions on the Face, Pain in the Back, Heaviness of the Eyelids, Frequently Black Spots Flying before the Eyes with Temporary Suffusion and Loss of Sight, Want of Attention, Great Mobility, Restlessness with Horror of Society. Nothing is more desirable to such patients than Solitude, and nothing they more dread for fear of themselves. No repose of manner, no earnestness, no speculation, but a hurried transition from one question to another.

THESE SYMPTOMS, IF ALLOWED TO GO ON—WHICH THIS MEDICINE INVARIABLY REMOVES—SOON FOLLOW LOSS OF POWER, FATUITY AND EPILEPTIC FITS, IN ONE OF WHICH THE PATIENT MAY EXPIRE.

During the Superintendence of Dr. Wilson at the Bloomingdale Asylum, this same result occurred in two patients. Reason had for a time left them, and both died of epilepsy. They were of both sexes and about twenty years of age.

Who can say that these excesses are not frequently followed by those direful diseases, Insanity and Consumption? The records of the Insane Asylums and the melancholy deaths by Consumption bear ample witness to the truth of these assertions. In Lunatic Asylums the most melancholy exhibition appears. The countenance is actually sodden and quite destitute, neither mirth nor grief ever visits it. Should a sound of the voice occur it is rarely articulate.

"With woful measures wan despair
Low sullen sounds their grief begin to shed."

While we regret the existence of the above diseases and symptoms, we are prepared to offer an invaluable gift of chemistry for the removal of the consequences.

Sold by Druggists and Dealers everywhere. Price $1 25 per bottle, or six bottles for 6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

A "BRUSH" IN THE HOUSE

In the course of the debate in the House on Friday, on the appropriation for public buildings in Chicago, the following sharp exchanges passed between Messrs Dawes of Mass, and Randall of Pa

Mr Dawes said he desired to disabuse the bill of any prejudice arising from public buildings in New York. He believed that the bill should stand upon its own merits.—As to the New York post office costing ten millions.—

Mr Randall of Pa, said that he meant ten millions for both the New York and Boston post-offices.

Mr Dawes regretted that the gentleman did not always say what he meant. If it were necessary to drag the Boston Custom House into a secussion he was certainly willing. That Custom House had never been enlarged a hair's breadth, nor had a dollar been expended on it beyond the limitation put on the original bill. The gentleman's new born zeal in regard to corruption had led to a confusion in his mind and to mistake what he was talking about. It was the New York court house he was thinking about, that had cost ten millions and he regretted that the new role the gentleman (Randall) was attempting had led him into confusion.

Mr Randall—The United States courts are to be accommodated in the post office building.

Mr Dawes—Do you own talking in your own time. (Laughter.

Mr Randall—I will correct the gentleman's statements whenever I can, in or out of my time.

Mr Dawes—The Boston court house has no more connection with this subject than the New Orleans custom house. This is a grand demonstration of the zeal and economy the gentleman's political associates are accustomed to illustrate in their lives and votes. The cost of the New York post office was limited to three millions, and the enlargement to which the gentleman refers, is underground. When they came to lay the foundation, it was found that they had to sink it thirty feet before they could get a solid foundation, and Congress appropriated $600,000 more to finish up that underground work, which gives one-third additional room. That is the enlargement and $3800,000 is the limitation of the entire cost. It would never exceed that unless those who now control the Treasury of the United States shall pass out of power, and that pass into the hands of those who rather preach than practice.

FARM BUILDINGS

There is no greater evidence of thrift in a farming neighborhood than that afforded by farm buildings. No special demonstration of this proposition is necessary, since it is an accordance with the universal judgment of the travelling public. When one sees a dilapidated dwelling, with its windows ornamented with bundles of old rags, its shingles loose, or gone, its clapboards hanging by one end, with other things corresponding, what is the conclusion? In nine cases out of ten, without viewing the premises further, the proprietor will be adjudged to be slothful.

But in such a case, suppose we do look further, what shall we discover? The barn will be, if possible, in a more deplorable condition,—boards off, doors hanging by one hinge, if hanging at all, whereby such stock as is attempted to be sheltered is sadly exposed. The other out-buildings, if any such exist, are equally neglected, and further than this all fences are poor, whereby crops are greatly exposed to destruction. This may be a gloomy picture, but nevertheless, it is one that is not wholly of the imagination. There is too much truth in it, as its counterpart is too often seen in real life, and proves one of three things, a mistake in choice of occupation, neglect from unfortunate circumstances, or wilful disregard of the common obligations of humanity to society.

No man who has the strength and ability, as a member of society at large, has any right to pursue a course that will result in injury to his own household, if he has any, and much less his fellow man, nor has he any right—having chosen an occupation—to bring reproach upon that occupation by wilfully neglecting the performance of duties necessary to its successful operations.

Now let it be submitted to the unprejudiced judgment of any person, if in any neighborhood in which most of the dwellings are place buildings, with blinds and pleasant surroundings, accompanied by well arranged and neat looking outbuildings, there be two or three dwellings of the description above, they do not indirectly affect the commercial value of those first named. And further, too, especially in the case of adjoining proprietors, who are subjected to the inconvenience of poor fences, which not unfrequently cause trouble, no inconsiderable pecuniary loss frequently results from the fact that purchasers are usually averse to locating themselves adjacent to such reckless proprietors. It is an obligation resting upon every individual to make the world at large better for his having lived in it, and as farming is not an occupation so unlike all others as to be beyond the opportunity of injury to a considerable degree, it should be a study among all to pursue that course, and that only, which will result in the least possible injury to any one, and in the pursuance of such a course, very much of the litigation and unpleasantness of feeling that frequently takes place, will be done away and friendship reign supreme.

N E Farmer.

CONGRESSMEN.—Of the seventy four Senators fifty are lawyers. Eleven have been Governors of States. Nine were born in New York, so that the Empire State cannot complain, although her nominal representation is restricted to two. New England, having twelve members, has nineteen sons in the Senate. Senator Sumner has seen the longest service—twenty consecutive years. Hon Simon Cameron is the oldest Senator, and Mr Spencer, of Alabama, the youngest.

In the House, the longest consecutive term of service—that of Mr Dawes, and as useful as it has been long—stands accredited to Massachusetts. The House has no septuagenarian, as the oldest member—Mr Perry of New York—being not quite 70, to make up for which fact, there are seven members, who are under 30 years of age. Of the professions represented in the body the editorial raven to the fourth place, having now eleven members. There are eight manufacturers, three doctors, two clergymen, one teacher, and one "general business." No less than fifty two were born in New England, and seven came from the British Isles—Canada and Prussia being the only other foreign birth places.

The banquet at the Revere House on Monday evening, given by Alexis to a few invited guests, cost fifty dollars a plate. A bottle of the Duke's own wine was placed beside each plate. The dinner given in honor of the Duke on Saturday evening, cost the insignificant sum of thirty-five dollars a plate.

Four men charged with the murder of Dr. Robinson, in 1866, were brought before Judge McKean at Salt Lake, on Thursday, and two of the prisoners were positively identified as concerned in the murder.

The late Jonathan Morgan of Portland, left a will, by which he gives all his property to the Masons, after his debts are all paid out of it, to constitute a fund for charitable purposes.

The enrollment is to be used as evidence before the Geneva Commission.

NEW PUBLICATIONS

OUGHT WE TO VISIT HER? By Mrs. Annie Edwards. As a novelist, Mrs Edwards is entitled to a high place in the estimation of the reading public, for although somewhat diffuse in her style, she has the rare art of making every little otherwise insignificant circumstance contribute to the creation of the real flesh and blood characters that her stories make us acquainted with. In this last novel, whose object is to illustrate the utmost distinctions of English society, where the titled "Lady Rose" is courted and admired in spite of the glaring immorality of her life, by the same virtuous matrons and maidens who refuse to recognize the country squire's beautiful wife on account of her early profession as a ballet dancer, the satire is keen and sharp, softened by touches of womanly tenderness and charity that speak well for the heart as well as brain of the gifted authoress. Sheldon & Co, New York. For sale by D Bugbee & Co.

FACING HER PROBLEM. By Amanda M Douglas. The sad story of a soul mismated for life, tempted, tortured, distorted from the beautiful possibilities for which Nature had intended it, until in sheer desperation flight is resorted to, and the great world with its hardships and dangers, but with its blessed sense of freedom is welcomed with courageous hopefulness by the long repressed and imprisoned mind, while rest and peace come at last to the tempest-tossed dissatisfied wanderer. Sheldon & Co New York. S H by Bugbee.

AUNT JO'S SCRAP BAG is the title of a new juvenile book. By Miss Alcott, and consists of a collection of short stories both new and old written in that lady's best style, beautifully bound and illustrated making it a charming holiday gift for the story loving boys and girls, who after the feast afforded them in Little Women and Little Men," will be sure to hail with delight anything from the same magical pen. Lee & Shepard, Boston. Sold by Bugbee & Co.

THE COUNTRY OF THE DWARFS. By Paul Du Chaillu, is a delightful history of the travels and adventures of this famous explorer in the unknown regions of Africa. The narrative is in the author's usual easy, unaffected style, and the illustrations, which are very numerous, are remarkably fine. Published by Harper Bros., New York.

A VOYAGE AROUND THE WORLD. By N Adams, D D. This little volume contains a pleasantly written description of the author's visit to the other side of the globe, with a lively description of the manners and customs, national and social, of the different people with whom he came in contact. The book is gotten up in simple but elegant style by Henry Hoyt, Boston, and is for sale by B F Duren.

SUDDEN DEATH OF MAYOR DALE

Shortly after noon on Sunday, a startling rumor of the sudden death of Mayor Dale, was swiftly circulated throughout the city, and by the time that inquiry had confirmed the sad intelligence, earnest groups of citizens had gathered at various points on the principal streets their subdued conversation and [illegible] demeanor, attesting the shock which the community had received in the announcement of this swift work of death — This is the second instance of the decease of a Mayor of Bangor during his term of office Hon William Abbott having died of typhus fever while holding that position but this sad decease had given a warning, while to Mayor Dale, the fatal announcement was the first news of his illness

Mayor Dale had been attending his business as usual on Saturday and had given no signs of sickness or indisposition It seems however that on Sunday morning he was not feeling entirely well, and concluded to keep his house during the forenoon while his wife went to church No apprehension of serious ill was entertained by Mrs Dale, and he went to church, leaving her husband at home in the with a presentiment of the [illegible] he was soon to fall On returning at half past one o'clock P M and repairing to the sleeping room Mrs Dale was terrified to find her husband prostrate on the floor Instantly raising his head in her arms she hurriedly despatched a messenger for the physician and hastening in the meantime to stir her husband to consciousness — All efforts were unavailing, as the dying man opened his eyes but for a moment to close them in the sleep of death On the arrival of the physicians it was found that human skill could do no [illegible] the dread stroke of apoplexy having fallen fatal work There were indications that Mr Dale had begun preparations for taking a bath, having partially removed his clothing, when a feeling of faintness or some other circumstance induced a return to the chamber where the attack seized him [illegible] The sad news quickly spread throughout the neighborhood, and kind and sympathizing friends were soon gathered there the hush of a great grief had settled down upon the once cheerful and hospitable home

The late Hon Samuel H Dale was a native of Massachusetts He was born in Sandwich, 1812 and was therefore a little more than fifty nine years of age at the time of his death His earlier years were spent in Salem and in 1843 at the age of twenty-one years he came to this city and entered into partnership with Mr Lemuel Bradford under the style of Dale & Bradford, by which firm a business of sail making was carried on for twelve years on Broad street, at the place now occupied by Mr Bradford — During a part of this time Mr Dale made investments in shipping which were subsequently extensive and considerable interest in this business Shortly after retiring from the partnership of Dale & Bradford in 1846 he became associated with Mr I B Fiske constituting the firm of Fiske & Dale ship chandlery and provision dealers The partnership thus formed was maintained for fifteen years, the firm doing a large business up to 1861, when it was dissolved and the partners established themselves in individual business Since 1861 Mr Dale has continued to carry on an extensive business in ship chandlery and provisions at the latter stand in the firm name of S H Dale & Co with Mr Nathan F Kellogg as a partner, establishing several large warehouses in the city, and retaining an interest in shipping lands, etc In 1870 the firm erected an elegant pink granite block on Exchange street for the accommodation of their business, one of the most spacious and elegant buildings in the city and form a [illegible] and ornamental addition to our business blocks which have been made in the city

In politics Mr Dale has long borne a prominent rank His first connection with City Government was in 1839, when he was elected to the Common Council at the head of a [illegible] ticket and was re elected for the following year In the early years of the war of the rebellion Mr Dale was active in his sympathies of the volunteers and in other ways Mayor of the city He held the office by successive elections from March 1866 to March 1869 attaining a large and [illegible] popularity by his manifestation of public spirit his generous solicitude for the comfort of the soldiers, and his energetic work in improvement In the war and to the position of Mayor he was fitted by his firm while firmness and manly candor In this last office his life he was enabled to do a prominent part in the memorable events attendant upon the visit of President Grant to Bangor the leading men of two nations upon the occasion of the opening of railway communication New Brunswick, and he had the honor of being a visitor that occasion with the recipient of a [illegible] which he had received on this

Dale was president several years of the Mercantile Mutual Marine Insurance Company in this city he was a member of the Bangor Water Company and has been interested in many other private and public enterprises He has long been a member of the Unitarian Church was a liberal contributor towards the erection of the handsome structure which succeeded the old church building destroyed by fire and at the time of his death had for several years held the office of Deacon Mar ied in 1820 to Matilda Waldron of Salem who survives him they have [illegible] children of their own but have taken to their home to rear and educate as for them as kindly and liberally as if own offspring Mr Dale has always known by the poor as a generous giver [illegible] has ever been proverbial for its charity His death will cause sincere regret throughout a very large circle of friends, by whom he will long be missed on earth where he was so familiarly known

The Secretary of the Treasury has submitted to the House a letter from the Comptroller of the Currency who says "Having been in New York on the 12th 13th and 14th inst. and in communication with the leading bank officers I am satisfied that none of the National Banks are implicated or suspected of being implicated in any effort to produce any unusual stringency in the money market."

THE COMBINATION AGAINST ERIE It is stated that a powerful combination of the Atlantic and Great Western Railway and English shareholders of the Erie road, has been formed James McHenry is to manage the road, and Gen Sickles has been retained by the English shareholders The new Legislature is to be asked to order a new election of directors, which will doubtless be passed, and then Fisk Tweed and Gould, will be ousted It is stated that Governor Hoffman, upon whom the Erie officials depended, declines to have anything more to do with them.

A bill has been introduced in the California Legislature giving the Pacific Sub-marine Telegraph Co. the right to construct lines and land cables for an inter-oceanic telegraphic company to China and Japan, either direct or by way of the Hawaiian Islands.

THE SENATE CONTROVERSY.

The Washington correspondent of the Boston Journal, writing of the recent controversy in the Senate, says the debate upon the appointment of a special committee of investigation has shown that there is no foundation for the sweeping assertions made of late about the dishonesty and corruption of Republican office-holders The statistics of public affairs demonstrate that among the twenty thousand agents of the General Government engaged in the discharge of public duties, there have not been a dozen all told, who have been detected during the past year in defalcation or peculation There have been more defalcations discovered in the same time in the National banks, or in the mercantile counting houses of the country, and there is no special reason why just now there should be an inquisition established for looking into the conduct of federal office holders. Well did Mr Sherman, one of the most rigid and inexorable Senators, express his amazement that a special committee should be organized, "armed with power to go all over the United States without limit—without any restriction upon their authority to examine into both persons and papers—to go and examine the private desks of individuals—to go and explore the secret recesses of every man's household" The only mission of such a committee would be to cast a drag net over every Custom House and Post Office, to catch the scandal of discharged clerks, dishonest sinecure holders and paid detectives, and to promulgate it so as to injure the administration This is well understood and the leading Republican Senators, in whom the people have confidence, have taken care that while there shall be a committee of investigation and retrenchment, it shall not be organized for the gratification of political malice

The Journal remarks that it is rather curious that the House of Representatives should contain a less number of Republicans not considered in full accord with the administration than the Senate The fact would certainly seem to imply that those who stand nearest to the people feel most sensibly the President's popularity However that may be, it is at length obvious enough that a small section—but strong in talent—of the Republican Senators, are to a certain extent disaffected toward the administration, although they claim to appeal to it the strictly just reasonment demanded by their sense of public duty A well informed correspondent makes up the votes as follows, viz Sumner, Trumbull, Schurz, Fenton, Ferry, (Conn) Logan, Sprague, Tipton and West, nine in all The vote on Mr Trumbull's retrenchment resolution shows in association with the above the names of Messrs Alcorn, Patterson and Wilson, although the speech of the latter indicates that he at least recorded his vote on that occasion in no spirit of hostility to the President

At the caucus on Friday the resolution was amended and will be passed in the Senate Monday, in the following shape, which certainly offers a sufficient latitude of investigation to satisfy any who are seekers after truth and not simply desirous of manufacturing political capital

Resolved, That the Committee of Investigation and Retrenchment be instructed to inquire into the expenditures in all branches of the service of the United States, and report whether any and what offices ought to be abolished, whether any and what salaries or allowances ought to be reduced, what are the methods of procuring accountability in public officers or agents in the care and disbursement of public moneys, whether moneys have been paid out illegally, whether any officers or agents, or other persons, have been or are employed in the public service without authority of law, or unnecessarily, and generally how and to what extent the expenses of the service of the country may and ought to be curtailed

The Senators who are to compose the Committee on Investigation and Retrenchment, hinted with the above mentioned responsible duty, will be Messrs. Buckingham, Howe, Harlan, Stewart, Cool, Pratt and Bayard The members of this committee are gentlemen who will not shrink from making the most searching investigations, and who will not seek to conceal corruption, even though the administration may be arraigned as responsible for it. If Mr Trumbull and some of his supporters, says the Journal, "have certain other great men in our recent and former history, have been in kindly swayed by personal grievances, they can only hurt themselves by the course they have chosen, for though they may veil their unworthy motives now, they will be sure to crop out before the matter is finished, and to recoil with unerring effect. Suppose, also, that some things are found amiss in this Administration, as in every other that ever existed, surely it demonstrated readiness to correct them is the best possible offer that can be desired, and one which has already been regarded as truly Republican"

APPORTIONMENT STATISTICS The New York Times publishes the following tables showing the distribution of members in the present House, that of the members under the new apportionment, the gain or loss of each State the gain or loss of the four sections into which the country is generally ranked as divided and finally, the percentage of members representing belonging to each of these sections —

Winter Wisdom

Warm clothing alone will not protect the body against the consequences of the sudden depression of temperature which is concomitant of early winter Flannel next the skin preserves the animal heat, but it does not impart animal vigor That property is the special prerogative of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which is therefore a specific protection against a majority of the complaints which are most common at this season For example, a course of the great vegetable invigorant, commenced now, will be almost sure to preclude chills and fever, bilious colic disorders of the stomach, constipation, and many other complaints which are often the direct or indirect effect of an atmosphere surcharged with cold unwholesome vapor Moreover, the system toned and regulated by this means is much more likely to resist pulmonary disease than it would otherwise be, for the influence of a searching medicine pervades all the organs, and every fiber and tissue of the frame Persons whose vital powers are weak, especially invalid ladies and the aged, are earnestly recommended not to face the winter's rigor without having recourse to this safe and sufficient means of re-enforcing enfeebled nature Much suffering may be escaped, much danger averted by following this council Better late than never, is a good proverb, but it is better to be early than late

DOMESTIC NEWS!

NEMESIS IN NEW YORK!

ARREST OF THE RING CHIEFTAIN!!

THE MILLS OF THE GODS GRINDING!!

BOSS TWEED IN THE TOMBS!

A TAMMANY JUDGE TO THE RESCUE!!

BOSS TWEED ARRESTED.

NEW YORK, Dec. 16. Wm. M. Tweed was arrested last night at the Metropolitan Hotel, where he remained a prisoner in charge of the sheriff. The Grand Jury yesterday found a bill against him, charging him with committing a felony, whereupon the District Attorney gnotified Charles O'Conor, who, in company with the former officer, obtained a warrant from Recorder Hackett for Tweed's arrest.

TAKEN BY SURPRISE.

Tweed was occupying his private parlors in the Metropolitan Hotel and was taken by surprise, comparing himself to Warren Hastings. He made strenuous efforts to find Recorder Hackett in order to offer bail, but Hackett was not to be found, and he was kept in charge of the sheriff all night in his room. Every effort was made by Tweed and his friends to keep the arrest a secret, and they were successful until a very late hour.

KEYSER DIVULGES.

It is understood that these proceedings are based upon affidavits made by Keyser, who is reported to have been promised immunity from any prosecutions that may be instituted on condition that he will bring definite charges against suspected city officials. Keyser, it is said, came from South Carolina, where he had been staying for his health a few days ago, and the intended action of the Bureau of Municipal Correction—for it is from that quarter the complaint is supposed to originate—has been left a profound secret.

AFTER CONNOLLY TOO.

A warrant, similar in nature to that served on Tweed, was also served on ex Comptroller Connolly, at Ludlow street jail, last night, and left with the warden of the jail as a detainer against Connolly in case he should get bail on the first charge against him. The announcement of these arrests has created a profound impression throughout the city today.

OTHER INDICTMENTS.

Other indictments based on the proceedings of the Grand Jury, will be submitted to Recorder Hackett to-day, against Garvey, Ingersoll and Woodward, and it is stated that an indictment will be found against a prominent party, who has not heretofore been mentioned in the ring frauds.

THE FISK MANSFIELD CASE.

In the Fisk-Mansfield case, both affidavits charging Fisk with subornation of witnesses will be presented. It is said that the letters of Fisk to Mansfield will be submitted to the court to-day, showing that Fisk introduced the woman to his family, and that she was visited by wealthy railway men, Boston bankers and others.

HOFFMAN AND POLITICS.

An Albany despatch states that Governor Hoffman has strongly stated that he did not consider the Democratic party dead, but was prepared to meet Greeley on the platform of reform in the civil service, of the supremacy of the civil law over the military power, and the basis of an economical administration of the government.

THE INDICTMENT.

against Tweed, which covers over one hundred pages, mainly charges him with criminally receiving and acquiring to his own use (under cover of the act empowering him, in connection with Comptroller Connolly and Mayor Hall, they acting as the Board of Audit) large sums of money to which he was not entitled, which belonged to the county, with intent to defraud the people.

THE "BOSS" IN COURT.

Tweed's friends scoured the city to get bail last night, but failed, and he had to stay at the Metropolitan Hotel. There was a large crowd at the Court of General Sessions, this morning, to be present at the trial of Tweed, who arrived shortly after eleven, in charge of two Deputy Sheriffs. Coming down in a carriage with Sheriff Jarvis, at 11½ o'clock, Tweed entered the court with his son and associate counsel, Jas. Graham, Judge Fullerton, Mr. Burrill, David D. Field and his son, Mr. Stoughton and Mr. Bartlett.

"BAIL AND CAREWORN."

The prosecution was represented by O'Conor, Gen. Barlow and Garvin, while Judge Bedford took the bench. Tweed looked pale, careworn and tired, with deep circles under his eyes. He was well dressed, and wore a white cravat. Among others in the room were Sheriff Brennan, Count Johannes, Joe Howard and Judge Dowling.

THE CROWD EXCITED.

Some of the audience cheered when Tweed entered, but others hissing, caused great confusion. Mr. Graham denounced the applause as a rowdy proceeding and was bitter in his remarks. A large body of police kept order in the Court House.

ASKING FOR TIME.

District Attorney Garvin announced his readiness to go on with the case of Tweed.—Graham applied for an extension of time to plead. Garvin had no objection to giving a reasonable time, meantime the prisoner being committed in the usual way. Judge Bedford consented and the time was granted.

"WITHOUT BAIL"—"SIX" SENT TO THE TOMBS.

When the written order for the commitment of Tweed was made out, his counsel bitterly protested that the words "without bail" had been interpolated, and protested against this act of the District Attorney.—Tweed was then committed to the Tombs without bail.

"GENTLEMAN GEORGE" TO THE RESCUE—A WRIT FROM BARNARD.

Judge Barnard has just granted a writ of habeas corpus to bring Tweed before him immediately on a motion that bail be allowed.

THE SWEENEYS.

The Grand Jury have not yet finished their labors. The affair of Sweeney's trade relations with the Nassau Bank, it is stated on good authority is now before them and the arrest of Peter B. Sweeney, whose movements are closely watched, is considered extremely probable. James M. Sweeney, who in company with Hugh Smith disappeared from the city the night of election and was said to have gone to to Europe, is in Havana.

CONNOLLY'S BAIL REDUCED.

Judge Learned of Albany refuses to vacate the order for the arrest of Connolly, but reduces his bail to half a million. He also refuses to reduce the bail of Tweed.

The new indictments against Connolly are similar to those against Tweed, specifying fraud in fraudulent auditing certain bills of Ingersoll and Garvey, amounting to over $1,400,000.

THE BANKS.

The statement of the receiver of the Eighth National Bank shows the assets to be $1,000,000 against $700,000 of liabilities.

THE INTERNATIONAL PARADE.

NEW YORK, Dec. 17. The parade of the Internationals to-day proved a success. The occasion is regarded not only as a mark of sympathy for the cause in which Rossel and his comrades suffered, but also as a triumph over the police commissioners.

INGERSOLL SKEDADDLES FOR EUROPE.

It is reported that James H. Ingersoll left yesterday for Europe in the steamer Rheinn.

ATACAZY ORDERED TO LEAVE AMERICA.

Washington Specials say that official advices are to the effect that Gortschakoff has ordered Catacazy to leave America, after accompanying the Grand Duke as far as St. Louis, and the Legation to be placed in charge of Baron Downes, its Secretary, until the arrival of the Charge d' Affaires, who leaves at once.

MURDEROUS ASSAULT.

Wm. Paine was dangerously wounded by a knife and slung-shot in the hands of Daniel Riordon, in Cherry street, last night. Riordon was arrested.

SERIOUS ILLNESS OF HON. WM. H. SEWARD.

Auburn papers state that the Hon. Wm. H. Seward is very low from paralysis.

THE "BOSS."

The statement that Tweed is to be arrested on each of the 21 indictments found against him is confirmed.

IN GENERAL.

James W. Sweeney, Hugh Smith and several other Ring men are in Toronto.

The rumors afloat last night of the arrest of Mayor Hall and Peter B. Sweeney prove to be false.

The Long Branch steamer Jessie Hoyt was run into last night by the New Jersey Central ferry boat Elizabeth and considerably damaged. Nobody was hurt.

A report was presented to the South Carolina House of Representatives last Thursday, by the commission of investigation headed by C. C. Bowen, to the effect that the State had been defrauded by the over-issue of $6,315,000, and recommended the House to take the necessary steps to hold accountable those persons who violated the law and trusted the credit of the State.

FROM WASHINGTON

THE COTTON CROP.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 16. The Department of Agriculture gives the following as the condition of the cotton crop: The cotton returns received in December are similar in tenor to the November report. A fair rendering of the recent local estimates which have been unusually numerous and complete, gives a total aggregate of 3,400,000 bales, on the present expectation of the cotton yield of 1871.

THE CORN CROP.

The area in corn has been greater than in any former year. The estimate for 1871 was 1,094,000,000 bushels, being 220,000,000 more than that of the small crop of 1870, while a calculation of the local estimates of the present year gives a total product of 1,092,000,000.

STATES FALLING SHORT.

The States producing less than last year are Maine, Vermont, New York, Maryland, North Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas, Tennessee, West Virginia, Kentucky, Indiana, Michigan, California and Oregon.

COCHISE.

The Secretary of the Interior has invited Cochise, the murderous Apache Chief to visit Washington at the expense of the Government.

NEW YORK, Dec. 16. A Quebec special states that last night in the House of Assembly, one of the leaders of the opposition created great excitement by charging bribery and corruption upon the agents of the ministry, eliciting cheers from the galleries. The Speaker had the galleries cleared by armed police, when the crowd organized a meeting outside, being addressed by prominent annexationists, who claimed annexation to the United States as preferable to armed Provincial tyranny.

ALEXIS AT MONTREAL.

Montreal, Dec. 16. After the Grand Duke returned from his drive yesterday, he attended the inspection of the Battery of Artillery. TRAGEDY IN LYNN.

A WIFE MURDERED BY HER HUSBAND—DESPERATE STRUGGLE WITH THE MURDERER—AN OFFICER STABBED, AND THE MURDERER SHOT DEAD.

LYNN, Mass., Dec 16. A man named Wm. Brown, living on Adams street, killed his wife at 9 o'clock to-day, by stabbing her in several places with a dirk knife.

He was pursued by several police officers into Rock's pasture and surrounded. In cutting his way out, he attacked officer Thurston with the dirk in his hand. The officer fell, and Brown on top. Officer Wilton used a club, and it not having the desired effect upon the brute, who was still driving the dirk into officer Thurston, City Marshal Barrett drew his revolver and shot Brown dead upon the spot.

Officer Thurston was conveyed home, and has cuts upon the head. Brown's body is at the police station. The excitement in the city is intense.

Brown and his wife have not lived happily together. He was intemperate in habits and violent when under the influence of drink.

FOREIGN NEWS.

FRANCE.

EXCITING INTERVIEW BETWEEN THIERS AND THE ORLEANS PRINCES.

Paris, Dec. 15. (N. Y. Herald's Special.) At half-past five Thursday morning, another interview took place between Thiers and the Orleans Princes, which lasted an hour and a half, and was of an unfriendly character. Thiers complained especially that the Duc d'Aumale had not strictly observed the terms of the previous agreement, inasmuch as he had endeavored to interest Generals in his favor. Duc d'Aumale denied this.

PREPARING FOR AN EMERGENCY.

Thiers said I know that you have visited many Generals who are members of the Assembly, with the view to obtain their support in case of an emergency. You had several interviews with Gen. Ducrot to whom you laid bare your purposes; you saw General Billot, at whose private residence in Paris you called. You saw Gens. Martin, De Paillers, Chanzy and others.

"I doubt not your aim is patriotic, but to pursue it thus is not in accordance with our agreement, and I was particularly surprised and discontented, that not satisfied with these measures, you also made similar visits to many of the subordinate Generals of the army of Paris, whose names I can give you, if you are ignorant of them."

FRIENDS TO BE CONSULTED BY THE DUKE.

The Duke answered evasively, and terminated the interview with the declaration that he would take the advice of his friends, not as to whether he shall take his seat, but only with reference as to the proper time for doing so.

THE ALLEGED SCHEME OF THE PRINCE.

Gen. Bourbaki told the Duc d'Aumale, in the presence of General Ducrot, that only a Republic or an Empire was competent to restore France, and he could serve no other regimen. The Orleans plan is for the Right to take advantage of President Thiers' impatience, and at the first opportunity to force his resignation, make d'Aumale President, and to follow with a declaration proclaiming Comte de Chambord King of France, Comte de Paris heir to the throne, and Duc d'Aumale, Lieutenant-General of the Kingdom.

LOCAL AND OTHER ITEMS

—The late Mayor Dale had an insurance of $15,000 on his life.

—An adjourned session of the Executive Council will be held in Augusta to-morrow.

—His head is level who scatters ashes on the sidewalk in front of his lot.

—Many teamsters have discarded wheels for runners, but the sleighing is far from good, and heavy carriages run best on wheels.

—Advertisments, to secure immediate insertion, should be handed in as early in the day as possible.

—Slate, reported by good judges to be of an excellent quality, has been found in large quantities on the farm of Mr. Clifford, in Guilford.

—The Lewiston Journal appears in a new dress of handsome copper-faced type. We congratulate our newsy contemporary on its improved appearance, and wish it continued success.

—The members of the Free Baptist Sabbath school hold their annual festival at the vestry on Essex street, this evening, and present a very pleasing programme for the entertainment of their guests.

ENTERTAINMENT. The young people of the Congational society at Orono, announce an entertainment in the vestry of their church to-morrow, Tuesday, evening, consisting of comedies, fairy dramas and music. They will doubtless have a good time.

—The balcony sidewalk between Central and Kenduskeag bridges slowly approaches completion, but is still, if we may credit the report of a member of the bystanders' committee, "a great deal longer at one end than it is at the other."

—Capt. Hugh Ross of this city, has sent his steaming Terror to New York to be sold. He has four others plying on the Penobscot, three of which are almost new. They have all been very busy during the season of open navigation in the river

—We learn from the Calais Advertiser that the party at work surveying the route for the extension of the St. Croix and Penobscot Railroad to Grand Lake, are progressing finely. They are now within two miles of the Lake, and have found the location so far all that could be desired.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE. We are informed that John E. Simons of Pittsfield, who was arraigned on the charge of forgery before Trial Justice McCrillis at Newport, a month ago, and who failed to find the $1500 bail required for his appearance at the next term of the Supreme Judicial Court, attempted to a few days since to commit suicide by taking laudanum, but was unsuccessful.

A WARNING. Policemen Sweetser and Weymouth, drove out to Hermon, Saturday morning, and arrested two lads named Frank Nowell and Greeley Banks, for disturbing a writing school in that town, and making themselves generally disagreeable. The boys were brought before the Police Court in this city and fined—the first-named $2 and costs, and the other $5 and costs.

B. & P. RAILROAD. A new time-table goes into effect on the Bangor and Piscataquis Railroad on Wednesday. By the winter arrangement, the mixed train leaving this city at 8 A. M., and the passenger train leaving at 4:40 P. M., both run to Guilford, arriving at 12:30 and 7:55 P. M., respectively. Returning, the passenger train leaves Guilford at 4:35 A. M., arriving here at 7:42, and the mixed train leaves at 1:30 P. M., arriving here at 6:20.

SUDDEN DEATH. We learn that on Friday morning last, Mr. Jeremiah Sweetser of Newburgh, died very suddenly at his home in that town. He was apparently in his usual health, took breakfast, walked about half a mile on an errand, returned to the house about half past 9 o'clock and sat down on a chair, remarking as he did so, "I have been troubled considerably, lately, with a pain here," placing his hand on his chest. These were his last words; his head dropped on his breast, and the members of his family going to his assistance found that he was dead. He was 73 years of age, and was one of the oldest residents of the town.

MORMONISM. Elder E. B. Tripp, a native of Maine who removed to Salt Lake City, became a convert to Mormonism, and is now acting as a missionary for the "church of the latter-day saints," has been lecturing in Dexter. The Gazette says:—

"Some of his declarations sounded curiously enough to the people here. The Mormon idea seems to be that Christ came upon this continent after he was crucified, where better treatment was experienced than that which he met on the eastern hemisphere. Elder Tripp declared his to be the true religion of God, and said though the people here were in the habit of saying 'Poor Utah,' we ourselves were the ones that Utah pitied, and wished to convert from our sinful ways."

We do not learn that the Elder made any converts in Dexter.

TRUNK THIEF ARRESTED. Notwithstanding the fact two men are now in State Prison for stealing baggage from the Sanford steamers, another recently undertook the same game. Some time since a trunk check was missing from the steamer Katahdin, and soon after it was presented to the agent in Belfast, Mr. Wells, by a man calling himself Lot U. Hart, of Hartland, who claimed that he had lost a trunk. Mr. Wells requested Hart to make out a bill of the contents of the trunk, which he did, claiming the whole value at $163.84. Among the items was "one mattress," which was enough of itself to fill an ordinary trunk, and the remaining articles would fill about two more. Regretting the man to wait while he went to the bank, Mr. Wells procured a warrant for stealing and attempted fraud, and will him arraigned. While before Judge Patterson, he confessed that he had no trunk, and had "found" the check.—He was held to answer at the Supreme Court.

THE THOMAS ORCHESTRA CONCERT.—Many residents of this city had previously heard Theodore Thomas' Orchestra, and so wide-spread is its fame that few indeed but had heard of it, so that the announcement of a concert here by this superb organization awakened the highest expectations in our music-loving people. Saturday evening found Norombega Hall filled with a first-class audience, whose anticipations, it is safe to say, were more than realized by the music that rose like magic to the wave of the accomplished conductor's baton. For the benefit of those who did not attend, we reproduce the

It will be seen that all tastes were consulted in the selections, each being of a different character, leaving nothing to criticise but the execution, and the execution was above criticism—as near perfection as mortal art can reach. There was nothing left then for the audience, but to be delighted, and delighted they were, if the long-continued applause which greeted each piece be an index to their feelings. Owing to the length of the programme, encores were not regarded, save when the orchestra gave the delicious "Traumerei," by special request, after the performance of the concert-waltz. Bangor had heard "Traumerei," but never by this organization, and it was a new revelation to most of those present. Miss Krebs' piano playing justified all that has been claimed for her, and she was most warmly received. She was recalled, and played some brilliant variations on "Sweet Home."

On the whole, the concert was most enjoyable, and should Mr. Thomas again favor us with a visit, we can assure him of an audience even larger than that of Saturday night. This evening the orchestra plays in Augusta, and to-morrow evening, in connection with the Haydn Association (comprising a chorus of 250 voices, with Mrs. H. M. Smith of Boston, Mrs. Wetherbee and Mr. Thurston of Portland, and Mr. J. F. Winch of Boston, as soloists) will give a concert in City Hall, Portland.

IMPORTS BY WATER. UPPER STILLWATER. Since the purchase of the B. O. & M. Railroad by the E. & N. A. company, Upper Stillwater has been comparatively quiet except during the sawing season, but several new enterprises have been started which promise to add much to the business of the place. The latest of these is a large steam saw-mill, recently erected near the old depot by Mr. C. F. Hamblen and Capt Geo. Lancaster. The building covers an area of 110 by 75 feet, its steam capacity is about 140 horse power, and the mill includes one gang, one mulay, one clapboard, one lath and two shingle saws. The expenditure has been about $85,000, and good judges pronounce it one of the most substantial and thoroughly built mills in the State. It is especially valuable to the town, because during the summer month usually prevents working in the water mills. The whistle, though declared a failure by some of the remote inhabitants, serves to awaken the village to action, and recalls the once familiar locomotive shriek which Orono has taken from us.

Mr. Luther Lewis also has a small steam mill here of local importance, and A. B. Sutton, Esq., and Gen. J. S. Smith have each a large water mill.

A branch railroad is nearly completed from Orono to these mills, so that the future of Upper Stillwater is very promising. W.

SAD AND FATAL ACCIDENT.

A COACH OVERTURNED AND A MAN CRUSHED TO DEATH BENEATH IT.

Saturday afternoon, after the arrival at Winterport of the steamer Katahdin from Boston, a coach belonging to the Penobscot Exchange was started for this city with a load of eighteen passengers. The coach was on wheels, and when coming down a hill on the "back road," about four miles this side of Winterport, it commenced to "slew" on the icy road, which unfortunately, at this point sloped abruptly to the gutter. The driver John Kane, whipped up the horses, hoping by increased speed to "straighten out" the coach, but immediately at the foot of the hill was a brook, spanned by a bridge, unprotected at the sides by any railings, and when the team drove on with added momentum, the hind wheels slipped still more on the planks and the coach went over, turning a complete somersault off the side. The horses ran on with the forward wheels, pulling the driver some distance by the reins, not injuring him beyond a few bad bruises, but Mr. A. B. Simons, Eastern Express messenger, who was sitting beside Kane, fell under the coach, the footboard of which struck on his legs and the lower part of his body, breaking the bones of the former in several places, and injuring him internally so badly that he lived only a few moments. The other persons on the coach escaped serious injury as by a miracle, though all were much jarred and stunned and received severe bruises and cuts. Capt. Sanford, proprietor of the line of steamers, Mr. Taylor, the agent, and other gentlemen, did all in their power to care for the wounded, obtaining medical aid for them at the earliest possible moment. Mr. Tarbox, agent here of the Eastern Express Company, sent a team to the spot immediately on learning of the accident, had the remains of young Simons brought up with dispatch, and sent them by the night express train over the Maine Central to his uncle, Mr. Page, (both his father and mother are dead) at Kendall's Mills. Simons was 21 or 22 years of age, unmarried, and had for a year or so past held the position of express messenger on the Katahdin, between this city and Boston. He leaves many friends to mourn his untimely death.

John Kane, driver of the coach, is a man who never drinks, and has long had the reputation of being a careful driver. All on the coach agree that the accident occurred through no fault of his, and that if the bridge had had a railing, or even a log on the side, the overturn would not have happened.
